H. V. Bronson Residence
Peninsula, Ohio

HABS No. O-267

This house, situated in Peninsula, Ohio, a small town on the Cuyahoga River, was built in 1845.

The exterior walls are built of native stone, which was quarried in the vicinity and are in very good condition.

H. V. Bronson came from Connecticut and was a descendant of the White Family who came to America on the Mayflower. His son was ambassador to Mexico. His father was fourth Governor of Connecticut and his daughter married the fifth Governor of Connecticut.

This house is now owned and occupied as a summer house by Mrs. Margaret J. Hoppinger who graciously furnished this history.

Mrs. Hoppinger's mother was a niece of Mrs. H. V. Bronson.
